

Enbridge in Indiana: Fueling Indiana's economic engine

Enbridge's energy infrastructure has helped fuel quality of life in Indiana for more than 50 years. Enbridge delivers the products that heat homes and businesses, fuel vehicles, and power industry across the state.

Line 6A

A 467-mile pipeline carrying a variety of crude oil from Superior, WI to Griffith, IN.

Line 78

A 374-mile pipeline carrying a variety of crude oils from Pontiac, IL to Sarnia, ON

Line 62

A 75-mile pipeline carrying light and heavy crude oil from Pontiac, IL to Schererville, IN.

Line 14/64

A 467-mile pipeline carrying light and medium crude oils from Superior, WI to Griffith, IN.

Vector

A 348-mile natural gas transmission pipeline system from Joliet, IL to Sarnia, ON with deliveries in Indiana and Michigan.

Texas Eastern Transmission

A natural gas pipeline, which travels more than 9,000 miles, and crosses Indiana as it connects Texas and the Gulf Coast with high-demand markets in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeast.

Wildcat Wind Farm

This 202.5-megawatt (MW) wind farm is located near Elwood, IN. It includes 125 turbines. Enbridge has an 80% ownership interest in the Wildcat Wind Farm, which generates enough electricity to meet the needs of 57,800 homes (based on gross generation figures).

Current Operations	Line 6A	Line 78	Line 62	Line 14/64
CAPACITY: (billion cubic feet per day)	667	570	235	318
PIPE SIZE:	34 inch	30/36 inch	22 inch	24 inch
IN-SERVICE:	1969	2015	2003	1998

Current Operations	Texas Eastern	Vector Pipeline
CAPACITY: (billion cubic feet per day)	11.6	1.3
PIPE SIZE:	36 inch	36/42 inch
IN-SERVICE:		2000

Wildcat Wind Farm
202.5 MW per day