

Flanagan South Pipeline

Enbridge's $2.8-billion Flanagan South pipeline went into service Dec. 2, 2014, and now has the capacity to carry 585,000 barrels per day of North American crude oil toward the massive U.S. Gulf Coast refining market. Along its 590-mile corridor, from Pontiac, Ill., to Cushing Okla., Flanagan South continues to deliver significant economic benefits to the local communities.
