

Line 5 Wisconsin Segment Relocation

- In July 2019, the Bad River Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indians filed a lawsuit seeking the removal of Line 5 from the Bad River Reservation.
- Enbridge is proposing a relocation of a 12-mile section of Line 5 from the Bad River Reservation, replacing it with approximately 41 miles of pipe outside of the Reservation.
- In February of 2020, Enbridge submitted permit applications with the State of Wisconsin to proceed with the Line 5 Wisconsin Segment Relocation Project.
- Enbridge's evaluation of possible re-route options included civil and environmental field surveys, as well as communication with potentially affected landowners.
- Data from the surveys and consultations with stakeholders helped Enbridge identify a route that best balances impacts to communities and the environment.
- Before the Project can move forward, Enbridge will need to obtain a number of permits from State and Federal agencies:
  - US Fish and Wildlife Service
  - US Army Corps of Engineers
  - WI Department of Natural Resources
  - WI Public Service Commission
  - WI State Historic Preservation Office
  - WI Department of Agriculture
  - WI Department of Administration
  - WI Department of Transportation
